The Law Office of Sam M. (Trey) Yates, III, P.C. has been serving citizens of Harris, Fort Bend and Brazoria counties since 1986, primarily in the area of complex family law matters. Trey and his legal support staff embrace the philosophy that their clients need all the relevant information available to make an informed decision as they navigate through the maze of divorce or contested custody issues.

“When a case warrants”, said Trey, who was profiled in the March, 2004 issue of H Texas magazine, “we gather a community of professionals around our clients - whether that be accountants, financial planners, parent coordinators, or therapists to assist them in arriving at a client driven solution to their particular situation”.

Trey’s clients are requested to take an active role in the development of their case and partner with their legal team to achieve a speedy and successful resolution to their legal matter.

Trey and his firm do not shy away from difficult family law issues such as complex marital property divisions, grandparents’ rights, gay or lesbian parents, specific ethnic issues or fathers seeking custody.

He notes that the diversity of his clients are reflective of the diversity of the Houston metropolis in which his firm practices.

There are few better qualified and more experienced to practice in these areas as Trey is a member of the Board of Directors of the Family Law Section of the Houston Bar Association, as well as being a certified family law mediator and a certified collaborative family law attorney.
